

Initiating

User login, enter information -> chat window -> enter attributes (recipient's username, domain and message) .

Expected action: when click sending , sender application will send a request to create a node with the given username(recipient'username), then it will subscribe to that node ,waiting for publishment from the node.At the same time , receiver application will send a request to creat a node with the sender username and subscribe to that node,waiting for publishment from the node.

